THEATER HEAD IS INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Four True Bills For Operation of Sunday Movies Returned

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Trial Set for April 11 and Bond Fixed at $2,000

Four indictments for operation of a motion picture show on Sunday were returned against Edward F. Sharpless, manager of the Grand Theater, by the special grand jury in session here yesterday.

The indictments are for the four Sundays on which shows have been given at the Grand since Sharpless first launched the venture on March 4, one bill being for that date and the other three for March 11, 18 and 25.

Pleads Not Guilty

Waiving his legal right to a three-day wait before arraignment, Sharpless appeared before Judge Seofield in Court of Common Pleas at noon today and entered a plea of not guilty to the four indictments.

His trial was set for April 11 and bond fixed at $500 for each indictment, making a total of $2,000. Sharpless was accompanied in court by his attorneys, Grant E. Mouser and J. Malcolm Strelitz.

The attorneys announced this morning that they plan to make this a test case to obt in a definite decision on the Sunday show question.

Will Continue Shows

In a statement today Sharpless said that he expects to stage a show next Sunday in accordance with plans already announced. The feature picture is to be "The Flying Romeos," with Charley Murray and George Sidney in the leading roles.

Signatures of approximately 2,500 persons n appear on a written statement on file at the Grand Theater, advocating Sunday shows, Sharpless reported today. He says that the names were signed voluntarily by persons visiting the theater.

Two other persons indicted by the jury yesterday are to be arraigned Saturday morning, according to present plans.

Two Others

The two other indictments are: Harry Ebert, larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property. He is

PROBE VIOLATIONS

Drive Against Liquor Operators To Continue in Chicago

Washington, March 29—The investigation of prohibition violations in Chicago, which yesterday resulted in the uncovering of a huge liquor ring, and the indictment of a city alderman and other persons there, will be continued, Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition commissioner declared today.

Important raids on large liquor operators may be expected within the next few days, Doran said. A large force of undercover prohibition agents, members of the "mobile squadron," are concentrated outside Chicago, and are making investigations upon which the department hopes to materially check organized rum law violations in Chicago.

URGES RETIREMENT OF MEMBERS AT AGE OF 70

London, March 29 — Retirement of members of Parliament should be compulsory when they attain the age of 70, according to Sidney Webb, himself a member of the House of Commons. Webb, who is one of the leaders of the Labor party, is 69 years old.

"When a man reaches 70 he begins to deteriorate and should not be left in a position where he could possibly do harm in the control of his country's destinies," said Webb today.

Dietary Expert May Lead Women in Crossing Atlantic By Air

LONDON, March 29—The honor of being the first woman to fly across the Atlantic may go not to an aviatrix, but to a dietary expert—via the dirigible route.

Miss M. B. Sutton, daughter of a government official of Norfolk County, has been appointed a member of the crew of the BSR-1, the huge dirigible which is scheduled to fly to the United States in September.

The airship is now under construction. It is larger than the Los Angeles. Miss Sutton will have charge of the commissariat department of the air-liner and will supervise the preparation of meals.

COUNTY BANKS FAVOR CHARGE FOR SERVICE

Possibility that banks in Marion County will adopt the plan of making a service charge for all accounts of depositors who do not maintain balances above specified minimum limits was indicated in discussions at a county bankers' meeting held at Hotel Harding last night.

The service charge, which is now in effect in a majority of banks throughout the country, it necessary to prevent losses from the handling of small accounts, it was stated.

A committee made up of representatives of all banks in Marion County was named to consider the proposal and also to outline plans for forming a permanent county bankers' organization.

This committee, scheduled to meet on April 5, is headed by Fred E. Guthery as chairman. Other members are O. E. Kennedy, T. L. Fahey, H. B. Hane, John K. Peters, and Hoke Donithen, of Marion; T. J. Pittman, Caledonia; Henry Bardon, Morral; M. C. Clements and D. D. Clifton, LaRue; Harry Gast, Prospect; Arthur Haberman, Green Camp and H. S. Gearhiser, Waldo.

C. E. Merkel, who is county chairman representing the district bankers' organization, is an ex-officio member of the committee.

Charges Vary

The service charge rates now in effect generally throughout the country vary to a certain extent. In most of the larger cities the prevailing rule is to assess a charge for any account which shows a balance of less than $200. In a majority of the smaller

MEXICAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS IMPROVE

Settlement of Oil Controversy May Lead to Others; Perfect Accord Expected

Washington, March 29—Disposal of the vexatious oil controversy has paved the way for early adjustment of all remaining major issues between the United States and Mexico, officials here believe.

The State Department declined today to reveal the present status of negotiations between Ambassador Morrow and President Calles in Mexico City, or the nature of the final adjustment in the principal outstanding problem—the agrarian land laws, under which large tracts of American-owned land were seized. But from other quarters it was learned that Morrow's diplomacy has been almost as successful in this issue as in the involved oil dispute.

So marked is the improvement in Mexican-American relations in the last year that diplomatic circles here anticipate in the near future a complete accord between the two nations for the first time in history. A general commercial treaty is regarded as a probability.

Morrow's adjustment of the oil dispute is hailed here as a diplomatic accomplishment of the first magnitude and the international colony amuses itself now with humorous speculation as to whether major credit belongs to Morrow, or to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

SHIPPING BOARD TO SELL WEST AFRICAN LINE

Washington, March 29—The United States Shipping Board has determined to sell to private interests the American-West African Line, the only American service operating to the gold coast.

Advertisements for bids for the 11 vessels now in service will be published this week.

Firestone rubber interests, who have larger plantation projects under way in Liberia are understood to be potential bidders for the ships.

FIRE ON STRIKERS

London, March 29—British troops were forced to fire upon 20,000 strikers at Dumnagachi, near Calcutta, India, when the strikers attacked the East Indian railway bridge there, according to dispatches received here. Three strikers were killed, the dispatches stated.

SIDESTEPPING OF DRY ISSUE HIT BY BORAH

Idaho Senator Serves Notice There Will Be Trouble If Parties Back Down

CHARGES CONSPIRACY

Says Ruling Powers of Both Organizations Already Avoiding Amendment

Washington, March 29 — Senator William E. Borah served notice upon both major parties today that if they attempt to side-step or soft-pedal the issue of prohibition in their party platforms this year there is going to be trouble ahead—and plenty of it.

Great as is the issue of driving corruption from party councils and from government itself, the issue of upholding and enforcing the constitution, i.e., the Eighteenth Amendment, is greater and more fundamental, the Idaho senator asserted.

Already, he charged, the ruling powers in both Republican and Democratic parties have decided there shall be "a conspiracy of silence" concerning prohibition. To break that conspiracy, he exhorted the drys of both parties to move upon Kansas City and Houston a few weeks hence and demand that the platform-framers "fish or cut bait" upon the issue of prohibition.

Talks Over Radio

Borah's charges of bi-partisan conspiracy, and his warning that trouble lies ahead if party leaders attempt it, were contained in a remarkable speech which he addressed last night via radio to a group of Ohio women voters.

It caused considerable excitement in the capital today—and considerable uneasiness on the part of Republican leaders. For Borah plans to go to Kansas City himself and conduct the fight for a bone-dry plank in the Republican platform. Realizing Borah's combative powers, and scenting that Gov. Al Smith probably will be the Democratic nominee, Republican leaders are stirring uneasily over the prospect of going to the country next November positively committed to bone-dryness.

After reviewing the governmental scandals of the last few years, which, he said, had compelled the Republican party "to face its critics humiliated and silenced," Borah declared he did not believe the Kansas City convention

KIWANIANS PLEDGE HELP TO CIVIC BODY

Marion Forward Movement Unanimously Indorsed at Luncheon Meeting

In a unanimous vote, members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon at Hotel Harding at noon today enthusiastically pledged their support and cooperation to their president, G. Farr Larie, as a membe of the board of presidents of the Marion Civic Association, in any action the executive committee of the association might take toward the betterment of the city.

The action taken by the club followed a suggestion made by the president that he would like to have an expression of the sentiment of club members of the civic association and their instructions as to his procedure.

Instead of being a daily occurrence, as is generally supposed, on only two days of the year does the sun rise in the east and set in the west, E. E. Crump, in charge of the Perkins Observatory at Ohio Wesleyan University and regarded as one of the leading astronomers of the United States, told members of the club at the luncheon today.

"Only on the first day of spring and the first day of fall does the sun arise directly in the east and set directly in the west," Prof. Crump, said.

The sun is only a star that is 92,870,000 miles from the earth while other stars are of such a great distance away, Mr. Crump said, that if they were all wiped out today, light from some of the stars would still be visible in five years, while light from others would still be in the sky for 500 years.

TWO GANGLAND MURDERS ARE RECORDED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, March 29—Scarcely had coroner's attaches rushed to the scene of a gangland murder here early today than the roar of sawed-off shotguns was heard again and Joseph Sahakunkas, 41, tailor, dropped to the ground in front of his house, mortally wounded.

Four men riding in an enclosed automobile, fired the fatal shots.

Earlier, Jasper Montaleone, printer, was killed by shotgun bullets fired from another enclosed automobile.

Relatives advanced no motive for the attacks.

Stinson and Haldeman Confident They Will Set Mark

Jacksonville Beach, March 29—Twenty-four hours in the air, Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman were still aloft early this morning in their huge monoplane and apparently are headed for a new world's endurance flight. They took off early yesterday morning.

All through the night the drone of their motor kept watchers on the beach awake. Perfect weather prevailed, and the forecast was favorable for today.

They were flying at an altitude of about 2,000 feet this morning, and making about 75 miles an hour.

The aviators dropped a message this morning stating that the Stinson-Detroiter was using less fuel than they had anticipated and they were confident of breaking the record.

BANK CASHIER HELD IN MANSFIELD JAIL

C. E. Gladdin of Lucas, Richland County, Gives Self Up to Sheriff

Mansfield, March 29—C. E. Gladdin, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Lucas, near here, was held in County Jail here today, following the closing of the bank by the State Banking Department. It is believed that a shortage of approximately $25,000 exists.

Gladdin wandered about during the night and contemplated suicide, Sheriff Schad reported in explaining Gladdin's presence at the Richland County Jail. His nerve failed him, Schad said, and he surrendered at the jail instead.

The Richland County prosecutor with state bank officials are at Lucas, investigating a shortage said to have been confessed by Gladdin after his arrival at the County Jail today.

The bank was organized in 1905 and on Feb. 28, 1928, reported resources of $240,877.

H. F. Smart is president of the bank.

Senate Flood Bill Vote Fails to Halt House Opposition

PASS MEASURE IN TWO HOURS

Administration Leaders in Lower Chamber Demand Changes Before Action

Washington, March 29—The unparalleled action of the Senate in passing a $325,000,000 flood control bill in less than two hours failed to wipe out today the stubborn opposition of a House group which is determined that the people of Mississippi River Valley shall pay part of the cost of harnessing the mighty stream.

Administration leaders were demanding changes in the bill before it is brought on the floor, while backers of the "government-pay-all" plan were clamoring for speedy action.

Swift upon the heels of the Senate's action Representative Reid, Republican, of Illinois, chairman of the House Flood Control Committee, filed a report for a majority of the committee favoring enactment of its own bill, which is almost identical in scope with the Senate measure.

Six members of the committee, headed by Representative Kopp, Republican of Iowa, refused to accept the majority view. They demanded that the principle of local contributions be sustained.

House Leaders Deadlocked

Representative Snell, Republican of New York, chairman of the rules committee which dictates the House program, declared that he was uncertain when flood control would be brought before the House.

House leaders were deadlocked with the flood control committee over a demand that the Reid bill be changed so as to lodge control of the river in the War Department instead of with a special commission similar to that created for the building of the Panama Canal.

Another dissenting group, composed of congressmen from states on tributary streams, such as the Red and Ohio Rivers, demanded an amendment providing $5,000,000 for survey of tributaries for future flood control work.

Confident of Victory

The southern-middle west alliance which has staged a dramatic fight for the "government-pay-all" plan was nevertheless confident of an overwhelming victory in the house.

The prediction of Senator King, Democrat of Utah, that Mississippi River flood control will cost a billion dollars and the estimate of $77,000,000 by Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, who framed the Senate bill failed to dampen their enthusiasm.

President Coolidge was reported to have resigned himself to rejection of his proposal that local communities and states pay 20 per cent of the cost of flood control.

Senator Harrison Democrat of Mississippi, confided to the Senate that Mr. Coolidge urged Congress not to adjourn without passing a flood control bill and demanded action on no specific measure. This indicated that he would not veto congressional action, Harrison said.

FARM RELIEF BILL CARDED IN SENATE

Measure Likely to Be Enacted Next Week by Substantial Majority

Washington, March 29—The new McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, intended as a panacea for America's agricultural ills, was to be taken up today in the Senate with indications pointing to its enactment next week by a substantial majority.

In its new compromise form, the bill differed considerably from the measure vetoed by President Coolidge a year ago. It contained the equalization fee feature, written into the former relief bill, but in such an amended form that its authors hope to secure presidential approval.

"The present bill proposed two distinct and entirely separable remedies," explained Senator McNary, Republican, of Oregon, author of the bill. First, it provides loans to co-operative associations at a low rate of interest, and second, in case of failure of the first remedy, it provides for the making of marketing agreements, providing that losses on transactions authorized under the agreement would be absorbed by the commodity whose producers receive the direct benefit.

Makeup of Farm Board

The federal farm board, to consist of the secretary of agriculture and 12 members, one from each federal reserve district, would be appointed by the president, subject to confirmation by the Senate. All the authority for carrying out agricultural relief would be vested in this board.

Advisory councils, of seven members each, would be created to represent each agricultural commodity in advising the board. The councils would be named by the board from lists of candidates submitted by co-operative associations or other farm organizations, dealing in each particular crop.

IDENTIFY BANDIT SLAIN BY CASHIER

Banker Whips Out Gun and Fires When Holdup Demand Is Made

Middletown, March 29—The bank bandit shot to death at Monroe, near here, late yesterday, today had been identified as Lon Morgan, 25, Woodsdale, Butler County.

The bandit was shot to death by Austin P. Smith, 45, cashier of the National Bank of Monroe. His two companions who waited outside the bank escaped.

According to Smith, the bandit flourished a gun and demanded more and large denominations of currency, after Smith had surrendered about $30.

As Smith passed more money with his right hand, through his cashier's window, he seized a pistol with his left and fired upon the bandit at close range. Morgan fell in his tracks.

Morgan is said to have come to this section from Los Angeles. He is said to have been married.

A large sum of money was on deposit in the bank, as it was being used as a repository for taxes in this section.

CHICAGO IS AROUSED OVER GUARD REPORT

Proposal Made That U. S. Marshals Be Brought in for Primary

Chicago, March 29—Fuel was added to Chicago's raging political bonfire today when it became known that United States Marshal Palmer Anderson had dispatched a recommendation to Attorney General Sargent at Washington that 500 United States deputy marshals be authorized to stand guard over the ballot boxes at the April 10 primaries here.

The proposal, first suggested by Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general of Illinois, is regarded by political observers as a gesture in retaliation for the bombings Monday night of the home of Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson, the Deneen-Carlstrom candidate for state's attorney.

The use of federal guards, Deneen leaders point out, is made possible under a recent ruling of the United States Supreme Court which held that a primary is an integral part of an election and therefore subject to federal supervision.

Meanwhile, authorities busied themselves today in prosecuting investigations of the political bombings and in trying to trace the source of new threats received by Judge Swanson and State Senator Herman J. Haenisch, Deneen candidate for committeeman from the forty-sixth ward.

"You can tell the judge that we will do a better job next time," was the substance of an anonymous telephone threat received at the home of Judge Swanson. The threat was received by Mrs. Swanson, already on the verge of a nervous collapse from having her house bombed Monday night.

It is easily the greatest Essex Super-Six in history. It offers $200 to $300 more visible value than its great predecessor which outsold any other "Six" at or near the price by overwhelming margins.

Value of Modesty Revealed; Girl Refused to Wear Tights; Has $150,000,000 Today

Widow of Mortimer Davis, Canadian Tobacco King, Has Interesting Story

Reports Say Famous Banker Cut Off His Son in Recent Will

[illegible] March 29—Lady Mortimer Davis proved that modesty [illegible] has a title and a fortune to be $150,000,000—and [illegible] wouldn't wear tights in [illegible] Mortimer of Sir Mortimer [illegible] Canadian tobacco king and [illegible] has just died in France.

If Paris dispatches are correct her husband has willed all of his fortune to her and completely disinherited his son, Mortimer Davis, Jr., and the latter's wife, the former Rosie Dolly, of the world-famous dancing team known as the Dolly Sisters.

In high financial and social circles here there is skepticism that Sir Mortimer has cut his son off without a cent and many persons believe this report will be disproved when the will is probated in Montreal within the next week. Meanwhile Lady Davis has arranged to bring her husband's body from Cannes to Montreal.

The romance of Lady Davis and Sir Mortimer dates back to the time when, as a show girl, she refused to wear tights. She was not born to the royal purple, having started life as plain Eleanor Curran of New Orleans. Her first job when she left school was in a telegraph office. Later she became a manicurist. Then the stage called.

She went on the road with a burlesque troupe. She traveled for four years, becoming a seasoned trouper. Yet when, in 1912, "The Girl from Dixie" company came back to her home town Eleanor Curran refused to wear tights on the stage.

Many in the New Orleans audience knew her. There also was one who did not. He was Count Girolamo Mo-

[illegible] toni, an Italian, wealthy and once lionized in New Orleans society. The count was struck by her modesty, sought an introduction, courted her and married her in November, 1912. Eleanor Curran had taken her first step upward.

After a European honeymoon, Count and Countess Moroni went to live in Chicago where he was attached to the Italian consulate. In Chicago, Countess Moroni met the late Colonel Colt, father of Russel Colt, the former husband of Ethel Barrymore. Later the count and countess accepted an invitation to visit Colonel Colt at his estate near Providence, R. I.

Later Count Moroni took a position with the United States Rubber Co. and went to the far east to work. The countess remained in Rhode Island, whose people and climate she liked. Her calling list increased. She met Sir Mortimer Davis, the tobacco king, and race horse owner. He was married, but it was an open secret that he and the first Lady Davis were estranged.

Count Moroni never returned to his wife. They were divorced in Providence in 1923.

Countess Moroni, nee Curran, and Sir Mortimer were married—in 1924.

Sir Mortimer and his bride returned to Montreal but Canadian society received them coldly.

After a brief stay they returned to Cannes and spent most of their time on the Riviera.

The marriage of Mortimer Davis, Jr., which estranged father and son, was kept secret for almost a year. Rosie Dolly announced the marriage after winning $800,000 in a week at the Cannes Casino.

Flashy American Neckties With "it" Click in Congo

WASHINGTON, March 29—American cravats are being worn this year by the well-dressed man in the Congo.

"There is a very favorable market for men's neckties in South Africa," says a cabled report to the Commerce Department from Assistant Trade Commissioner William L. Schurz at Johannesburg.

Broadway's sartorial arbiters are generally more expressive than the competitive products from England, France, Denmark and Italy—but they have ever so much more "it."

The American sway is setting the pace in smart clothing the world over, according to the department's survey of men's apparel markets.

United States garters and suspenders are the "cat's meow" in Greece. Nicaragua is in the market for colored shirts with collars to match, to sell up to $4. American hats rule in Bolivia, and American styles rule the auto trade in Venezuela.

POLITICAL ISSUE

Napoleon Man Heads Ohio Group Urging Passage of Bill

Washington, March 29—The European corn borer has become a political issue in Ohio as well as a menace to corn crops, the House Agricultural Committee was told by M. L. Howell of Napoleon, Ohio.

He headed a delegation of Ohio farmers to urge passage of the Parnell Bill providing another $10,000,000 for corn borer extermination work.

Howell explained opposition recently exhibited by a group of Ohio farmers by asserting that some of the leaders were using the corn borer as a political issue in campaigning for state offices. One candidate, C. E. Wharton, is running for the Democratic nomination for senator on the issue, he said.

H. J. Newcomer of Bryan, Ohio, also urged further federal aid.

57,000 Miles Operated to Pay Tax Bills

TAXES paid by the railroads of America in 1927 took 6.2 cents out of every dollar of operating revenues received.

This is the highest percentage ever recorded in one year.

Gross earnings in 1927 amounted approximately to $6,172,000,000; direct operating expenses aggregated about $4,595,000,000. This left a net operating revenue from 238,000 miles of railway line of $1,577,000,000. Taxes amounted to $380,000,000, or about 24 per cent of this total.

This means that the net revenues from 24 per cent of the mileage operated, or the earnings from 57,000 average miles of railway line, went to pay the tax bills.

In 1918 taxes were equivalent to the net operating revenues earned by 25,000 miles of average railway line. In 1916 the tax bill consumed the net revenues earned by 29,000 miles.

Since that time there has been a steady increase until the high figure for 1927 was reached.

Is the fair-minded public willing that the unparalleled efficiency and dependability of service that the roads have been rendering shall be jeopardized by burdening them with an undue share of the costs of operating the Government?

Not so improbable, considering the fact that native camels were seen alive out in Nevada back in the early forties of the past century.

A Splendid Citizen Gone.

All Marion was shocked yesterday by the announcement of the sudden death of Orlando S. Rapp. As time passes, we will more fully appreciate the measure of the loss the city has sustained by his passing, for it is impossible that one who took the active part which was his in our civil, business, church, fraternal and social activities can be other than greatly missed. And this sense of loss will not be circumscribed by the limited boundaries of this, his home, city, for the nature of his occupation took him to all parts of the country, and wherever he went he made friends. It was a pleasure to say of him upon this page, some years ago, that he possessed, among many other endowments, the rare gift of attracting and retaining the interest, respect and esteem of people of all degrees. Small men are never thus endowed.

Those who knew Orley Rapp liked him for his straightforwardness and dependability, for his frankness and sincerity. In any matter in which honor, right or justice might be involved, it was always known in advance where he would be found. He had the courage of his convictions, and was outspoken in his expression of them. It was our good fortune to have known him all his life, and we never knew him to dodge an issue. His was a positive character; there was nothing negative in his make-up.

Orley Rapp was a splendid executive, one who knew alike how to suggest and how to take suggestions and well and faithfully execute them. He was at all times a close student of business conditions and current affairs, and his expressed judgment in business matters was the more highly esteemed because of the certainty that it was his judgment. His very nature barred the possibility that he might ever become a "yes" man.

We liked Orley Rapp as a man, a neighbor and a friend. We honored him in his home life, and we esteemed him as a citizen of the finest type. To group words adequately to tell how much we will miss him is beyond our powers.

Does Government Go Too Far?

Ever conscious throughout his long political career of the conflict between congress and the fundamental principles of free government, former Senator Oscar W. Underwood tells in the April Forum how he had promised himself that, some day, by way of apology for the compromises he at times was compelled to accept, he would point out how we of the United States had drifted away from the ideals of the great men who were the founding fathers of our republic. Those who have read, or may read, his contribution to the April Forum will agree that the gifted Alabaman has made good his vow. In it he speaks plainly and vigorously—more in sorrow than in anger, but without the slightest mincing of words.

"The men who organized our republic believed in individualism," Senator Underwood writes. "They cleared the way through a trackless forest and laid the foundation for the building of the greatest industrial empire the world has ever known; but they inaugurated their national life with the declaration that the less the government of the United States meddled in their affairs, the better off they would be."

Today, the former senator goes on to say, we have got so far away from that ideal that we are approaching a positive paternalism. The government, he points out, regulates the prices of some business, citing as an example the railroads. It has set up a trade commission to regulate and control business; to tell business and industry how big they can and can not be; to tell them what they must and what they must not do, and how they must and how they must not do it.

And then the former senator goes on to say that "the encroachments of the federal government on the rights of the state governments have made this unhappy condition in our country possible by attempting to set up moral, economic, and educational standards that are nation-wide in their influence and consequences. Most of the evils of government we suffer from today would have been avoided had the legislature followed the principles proclaimed as the pillars of strength that sustained our federal union in the beginning."

"Does our federal government go too far?" the Alabaman asks, and his answer, certainly straight and unequivocal, is that it does; that it goes far too far, showing an ever-present inclination to go still further.

It is to be questioned if, in all the history of our government, there has been a figure whose entire life has spoken more forcefully for confidence and regard than that of Oscar W. Underwood. He has had the esteem of the country regardless of party lines. His honor, his truth and his integrity have ever been beyond question. That he has not been advanced to the highest honor within the gift of the electorate of the nation, we believe it will be conceded, has not been because of lack of confidence so much as because of the geographical position of the state in which he dwells. He is one of the great, high-class men of today. He voluntarily retired from politics, giving up the place, last year, he so greatly honored in the senate. He speaks without fear and without favor, speaks from the heart, giving to the people of the land his honest convictions arrived at through his long experience in public life. He has no fences to construct, no wires to pull. Are not the convictions of such a man, so situated, entitled to the greatest possible consideration? All other things even, are we not justified in paying greater heed to the expressed convictions of such a man than to those of one who may be influenced by the exigencies of politics? We believe we are. We believe that we would do well to accept his views as of the highest value and heed the warnings that he utters. Is it not time, not only to check, but also to go further and turn back any and all movements toward paternalism? Is it not time that we get back to the ideals by adherence to which we grew, and thrived and became the great nation among nations that we are; the great nation we are not because of the encroachments on those ideals, but because of the ideals and despite such encroachments?

Judge Mercus Kavanagh, of Chicago, speaking from his experience on the bench says: "No man can be as bad as a wicked woman." He hasn't the same genius for evil." Maybe not, judge, maybe not, but you will have to admit that some men are wonderfully persistent in trying.

One London cable tells us that Great Britain will close its fiscal year with a surplus of $20,000,000 and another says the surplus will be $275,000. Either will prove such a novelty to Britons that it will be welcomed.

Paul Poiret plans to move to this country and turn out his creations over here. Paul may know his business, but he's going to come in for an awful shock when the garment-makers over here go on one of their annual rampages.

We have been told of our many lacks, but if the statement of the federal health service, that half the people of the country suffer from colds and bronchitis annually, is based on fact, our greatest need would appear to be an effective cold cure.

A man, imprisoned for sixteen days during which time his only nourishment was water, has been rescued from a Mexican mine and is on the road to recovery. The power of resistance of the human body is simply beyond human understanding.

Vagrant Verse.

THE DEAD KING.

Not maddest Winter knew so mad a king.
Quelling the Earth with terror-quaking name;
Tempestuous Furies trumpeted his fame;
No quarter did he beg, no mercy bring.
Unto the Earth his tearing claws would cling.
Till Beauty knew the bitterness of shame;
Hope lingered last, a robin's breast aflame.
And sodden mankind hungered for the Spring.
The greening hills were first to break the spell.
The King is dead! The monster King of March!
And down they flung his stormy soul to Hell!
Nature now resumes her living torch.
Slim April laughs the wily Spring away.
No loveliness is lovelier than loveliness in May!

Simplicity of Diet.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

In a despatch from Rome the other day it was stated that Mussolini, the Italian dictator, is an extremely simple eater. At a banquet he attended recently there were served all the delicacies of all the seasons. But the premier ate simply, as follows:

Consomme, boiled fish, plain veal cutlet, mashed potatoes and stewed fruit. His beverages were even simpler—one glass of mineral water.

It is well known that the Duce never uses alcohol or tobacco. He is extremely abstemious.

Of course, no one need feel sorry for Mussolini. He took plenty of food and excellent food at that. But there was plenty, in quantity and variety.

Not long ago I had breakfast at the White House. Perhaps it may not be amiss to tell you what was served. That will give you an idea of what the president eats.

The rest of us began with grapefruit. The president took orange juice.

Then came the cereal. It was cream of wheat, a very small portion, I judge about two tablespoonfuls. Rich cream was served with this.

The next course consisted of scrambled eggs and bacon. I noticed that the president ate one slight strip of bacon and an extremely small helping of egg.

After this came the famous griddle cakes and country sausage. They were wheat cakes, not buckwheat cakes, and were served with delicious, but thin, Vermont maple syrup.

The sausages were in small pats, of which the president took one, and a single griddle cake. He is a very light eater.

The coffee was good and the toast nicely browned. All in all, it was a very excellent meal. My criticism of it is that it had one more course than a breakfast for office men need have.

Now you know what two great men have to eat. They enjoy food just like ordinary humans do. But I must say for them, they are much simpler in their habits than are many public men.

I have in mind now another popular public character who was an enormous eater. I have looked at him in amazement as he took in vast quantities of food. He would eat at one meal as much as Musselini and Coolidge would eat in a whole day.

What happened to him? He died from acute indigestion.

Men of sedentary habits can not gorge themselves with food and live out what might be a much longer expectation of life. If you would live long and have your greatest usefulness while you do live, you must eat simply.

Overeating is one of the most common causes for shortened life. Choose your food carefully and eat in moderation. In this advice lies length of days.

Editorial Opinion.

AMERICA COMING OF AGE.

The change of front towards Latin America may be of more than local significance. It was in the western hemisphere that the United States first felt its power, used it inconsiderately to its advantage, and now appears to have learned that its own interests can be best and permanently furthered, not by the flat exercise of strength, but through applying the principle of mutuality. Among the nations of the world the United States holds no such position as it does in the western hemisphere; but it is, nevertheless, perhaps the most powerful political unit in the world today. European people, sometimes by the indirect testimony of their dislike, seem to acknowledge a new dominant factor in international affairs. But the shift is not generally understood in the United States. Our little arrogance, our dogmatic brusqueness, all indicate that, though we are beginning to taste the strange wine of power, we do not truly comprehend its nature or our own.

For that reason, the spirit of the Havana conference may be a promising sign. Secretary Kellogg's recent dismissal of unfounded charges in the gun elevation controversy with Great Britain was a deliberate effort towards good will, however slow it may have been in coming. Coolidge's outburst against the admirals was another. An honest effort, not a frivolous one, was made to meet the French overtures for a new arbitration treaty; and Washington's proposal that submarines be forever abolished by international convention was a constructive effort, even though it may have been regarded as "an insult" in certain foreign quarters.

"America comes of age," wrote Andre Siegfried of the social, political and economic life of the United States, as he saw it a year ago. If the Havana conference of 1928 in the end is anything more than another example of the same old sort of thing, it will be because, at least in international relations, America is coming of age.—London Round Table.

A BILL TO WASTE THE FARMER'S MONEY.

One of the soundest arguments yet heard against the Capper-Hope bill, a measure that would eliminate the direct buying of livestock by packers and force all the business into the regulated public stockyards, was that advanced by Jay C. Hormel, Austin, Minnesota, packer, recently before the senate committee on agriculture in Washington.

Proponents of the bill contend that, through direct buying, the packers are breaking up the cooperative shipping associations; that direct buying, in time, will eliminate the competitive public market, with the livestock producer the chief sufferer.

Mr. Hormel's answer is complete and convincing. To the contention that cooperative marketing is placed in jeopardy, he replies that more than four-fifths of all the hogs his company buys, come from cooperative shipping associations. To the contention that direct buying will eventually put the farmer at the mercy of the packer, through elimination of competition, Mr. Hormel replies that this company has been buying hogs direct for thirty-five years, and that in this time the purchases have risen from 600 a year to more than 1,000,000 a year. The company has had to compete against public stockyards for hogs. That the farmers now sell to this single concern 1,600 times as many hogs as they sold in the beginning, would seem to indicate that they are doing better by direct selling than they could do otherwise.

Growth of the Hormel plant has made Austin the center of a heavy hog producing area. Mr. Hormel can see no sense in compelling farmers to pay for freight, brokerage, feed and shrinkage on a long haul to a distant public market, and then compelling the Austin packer to pay for freight and shrinkage on those same hogs on the journey back to the Austin region. Neither can we.—Minneapolis Journal.

A FINE GESTURE.

The Canadian government's decision to exchange diplomatic envoys with the government of France is a step which naturally and logically follows the exchange already made between Ottawa and Washington.

With the United States the dominion has relations of direct neighborship to maintain, and it seems to have been primarily with a view to closer diplomatic connections with the American government that Canada first sought authority to send and receive diplomatic agents in its own name.

With France, in place of geographical proximity, the people of Canada have ties of a cultural and historical character which they can no more ignore than they could neglect the everyday necessity of business and trade intercourse with the United States.

The inhabitants of Quebec province, of French Canada generally, remember with pride that French pioneers, soldiers and missionaries were the first to sow the seeds of Christianity and civilization to the north of the St. Lawrence. To France they turn in memory as to their mother country, to whom, apart from the loyalty they give to Ottawa, they feel bound by race and language.

While outsiders may speculate on whether the exchange of ministers will bring to either Canada or France any increased material advantages, there is no denying that Canada has achieved a fine gesture toward both France and its own French inhabitants.—Detroit Free Press.

If Sirius Should Catch Us.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"What would be the consequences to the earth were Sirius in the sun's place? What speed would the earth require to keep in distance?—H. A. G., Chicago."

The speed would not be so great as you apparently suppose. The mass of Sirius is 2.56 times that of the sun. The speed, if the distance were unchanged, would vary as the square root of the mass. The square root of 2.56 is 1.6, making the earth's orbital velocity 29.6 miles, if it revolved as close around Sirius as it does around the sun. This is nearly the same as the mean orbital velocity of the planet, Mercury.

I know no reason to suppose that a greater velocity of the earth in its orbit would have any special effect upon the conditions of life on the earth, other than such as might result from the shortening of the seasons. But there is a more serious consideration affecting the relations between the earth and Sirius, supposing them to be as near to one another as are the earth and the sun.

Sirius, although only about two and a half times as massive as the sun, is as much as thirty times greater than the sun in radiative power. Therefore the amount of heat poured upon the earth by Sirius, in the case supposed, would be thirty times the amount supplied by the sun; or, a given unit of area on the earth would be heated thirty times more intensely by Sirius than it is heated by the sun.

When you recall what midsummer temperatures are, with the sun to supply the heat, you will have a vivid notion of what they would be with Sirius substituted in the place of the sun. All life would be destroyed at once. The heavens would blaze with the fierceness of an electric furnace. In order that the face of the earth should retain its present conditions of temperature, it would have to revolve around Sirius at a distance of about 500,000,000 miles, which is considerably greater than the distance of Jupiter from the sun.

The reason why the mass, and consequently the gravitation, of Sirius are proportionally so much less than its radiative intensity is because its substance is hotter and more expanded than that of the sun. Sirius belongs to the spectral class of the white stars, or the "A" stars, and the sun to the class of the yellow stars, or the "G" stars. The absolute temperature of Sirius is reckoned at 11,000 degrees Centigrade — say 19,000 degrees Fahrenheit—and that of the sun is reckoned at 6,000 degrees Centigrade. But Sirius is much less dense than the sun, and its surface brightness is much greater. The stars of slight density are greatly expanded and very brilliant.

There is a remarkable mystery connected with Sirius in its possession of a companion linked with it to form a "gravitational couple," but shining with 10,000 times less light, though it is one-third as massive as Sirius. At the same time it has a diameter of only 13,000 miles—about fifty per cent. greater than the earth—so that its calculated density comes out at an almost incredible figure, viz., 50,000 times the density of water!

A cubic inch of this strange star, it is estimated, would weigh a ton.

This amazing star is 1,800,000,000 miles from Sirius, which to be sure is its master, but even a giant sun might feel a little nervous over intimate companionship with such a monster—sub-dwarf in size but super-Brobdingnagian in power!

Speculatively it is affirmed that the probable cause of the extraordinary state of the companion of Sirius is its intense internal heat which strips the very atoms of their shells of electrons and reduces them to such minuteness of dimension that millions are packed together in space that ordinarily would contain perhaps only hundreds.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, March 29—Broadway will brook no successors. When a popular idol passes, substitute is met with a stifled yawn. It has been tried time after time with the same impossible result. Broadway makes its own heroes and heroines and wants no imitations.

Recently they tried to bring another Florence Mills to the world of cabarets, but the unforgettable memory of that wistful, dusky singer would not be downed. Stage partners who have lost their mates team up again and try to carry on with the same futility.

Broadway's loyalty is of the sort that if a performer hits upon an original idea and clicks and some one does it even better the attitude is Moran-and-Mackish. Even if it were good, they wouldn't like it. The answer is personality.

Nobody has been able to imitate personality. It has that indefinable quality that can not be duplicated. There was a long list of professional dancers who tried to follow the twinkling capers of the Castles. Some were superior dancers.

But Vernon was the first of this light-footed guild and the glamour clung. In the same fashion Ziegfeld remains the old master of the musical revue. No player has had so many imitators as Al Jolson. Many of them had better voices, but they could not put that certain something across the footlights like Jolson.

Film producers admit that could they find out a successor to Valentino, their fortune would be made. All Latin-American countries have been combed for a replica. They have been carefully groomed, but the public does not forget. They still want Rudy.

Indeed these efforts seem merely to create a keener longing for the original. In a way it is a heartening attitude for the man or woman who creates and wins plaudits. They need have no fear some one will come along and take their place, on Broadway at least.

An advertising agency specializing in slogans has turned out one which they hope will reduce the number of suicides jumping from windows in skyscrapers. They are to be placed in hallways and read: "Think things over before doing anything desperate. Nothing is as bad as it seems."

The most depressing and certainly the meanest looking street in the mid-town metropolis, to my notion, is west Fifty-Third, which sprawls so gloomily under the elevated sun overhead. There are decaying brownfronts with smudgy uncurtained windows and shadowy halls. At almost every stoop is a piled-high rubbish can. The atmosphere is reflected by the few people you see, who seem sullen and suspicious. With flashy Broadway at its door, it seems hundreds of miles away. Many of the dingy houses rent rooms, and usually to men who are so worn out with hard work they can sleep through the clatter and bang. Despite its ugliness and squalor, police say it has been the scene of comparatively few crimes.

In one of the west Fifty-Third street homes recently was found an old rag-picker who occupied a cellar. The only illumination seen by neighbors was the feeble flicker of a candle now and then. One morning he was found lifeless and it was discovered he devoted his life to stray cats he picked up here and there. There were dozens of them, two blind and one with three legs. His scant earnings were used to buy them milk, liver, bread and other food. They were carried away to the headquarters of a friendly animal society in two push-cart loads.

A London playwright says feminine beauty in America consists of rouge and powder. Well, those beat some other ingredients. For instance—buck-teeth and adenoids. — Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Plays which have principally the element of indecency never have any success outside of New York. So says Ethel Barrymore, and she knows somethin about theatrical history. It is true that Main street—throughout all America—knows pretty well what is decent and what is sound. The kind of plays which succeed "on the road" speaks volumes for the average American of the smaller towns and cities.

There is no question but what the plan of installment buying in this country has done much to stimulate business. Installment buying has made new comforts and new luxuries possible to thousands who formerly found them out of reach. There is, however, one warning to be sounded. Unthinking men and women are likely to be much attracted by the small monthly payments that they will engage themselves to take on more obligations than they can handle. The writer of this column heard some time ago the story of a workingman who made $60 a week and in careless moments had obligated himself by installment purchases to the amount of $72 a week.

Seeing the star-spangled banner wave over Fort McHenry, at Baltimore, in 1814, Francis Scott Key was inspired to write the great poem. Now the birthplace of the "Star-Spangled Banner" is to be restored and kept in condition. To build monuments, to remember great deeds, to preserve the original American spirit, is among the outstanding marks of patriotism. Such action commends itself to all men and women.

Having preserved our monuments it becomes our greater duty to make American life measure up to original standards.

Detroit leads the way in deciding that even suspect in clubbing and assault cases shall be subjected to mental tests. This is approaching the problem of a certain type of lawlessness in the right way. Mere punishment is only a makeshift. To study causes, to study minds—with an idea of possible cure—is the right approach.

Mr. Dubleigh—"I should really like to see myself as others see me, you know."

Miss Pert—"You wouldn't give yourself second glance."

The bill collector found that the family was about to dun had skipped, taking their goods with them. After some inquiry he managed to locate the van driver, but the worthy claimed to have no recollection of where he had taken them.

"Come now," said the collector, producing a five dollar bill, "this ought to rouse your memory."

"It ought to, sir," the van driver admitted, "but you see mine ain't no ordinary memory, an' it'll take a deal of rousing. Why, it took $10 to put it to sleep."

Not Fair

The camera isn't fair! It has caught the lovely features of dainty Ethel Allis but missed her captivating vivacity, the rose-petal color of her skin and the rich beauty and gleam of her dark brown hair. "So many people tell me about my hair, nowadays," says Miss Allis, whose New York City home is the Embassy Hotel, "that I know what they're going to say when I see them looking at me. 'What do you do to it?' so many ask. I really do very little. Like so many of my girl friends here in New York, I just put a few dashes of Danderine on my brush each time I use it. That always gives new sparkle and life to my hair. It keeps it soft and easy to arrange and holds it in place. I was bothered with dandruff before I started using Danderine but it's all gone now. Every application makes my scalp feel just grand. And it keeps my hair so clean I don't need to shampoo half as often as I used to."

Danderine does more to bring out the natural color, the gleam and lustre of your hair than any shampoo or treatment. It removes all dust, grime and oily film from your hair—tones and refreshes your scalp—gets rid of dandruff. All drug stores have the 35c bottles. Lovely, gleaming hair and a healthy scalp for a few cents.—Adv.

"My Skin Is Hopeless"

You won't say that if you will use the skin corrective that works two ways at once! Your skin must be both cleared and healed. Sulphur is a remarkable skin clarifier, while nothing is better for healing than menthol. The two make a complete skin corrective, something you have not had before. While the sulphur clears up the pimples, blackheads and eczema blotches, the menthol heals the broken and sore tissue. It's wonderful how this combination works. Long-standing cases of skin troubles are cleared up, often in two or three days' time. Rowles Mentho Sulphur is inexpensive and all druggists supply it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.—Adv.

Your Hands Speak
By Edna Wallace Hopper

While you perform hundreds of commonplace tasks everyone present watches your hands.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

You pour tea. You open your purse. You shake hands with an acquaintance. You put on your gloves. All day long people watch your hands.

Do your hands speak for you? Do they suggest daintiness? They can be firm, capable, and at the same time exquisitely kept with practically no effort. Youth Lotion is rubbed into the skin, leaving your hands smooth and dry, so that you can wear gloves immediately after applying.

Just keep a bottle on your dressing table and one where you work (in your kitchen, your office or shop). Use it every time you wash your hands.

The pleasurable sense of feeling your skin so satiny—of seeing it so soft and white—is worth a good deal more than the slight effort. The cost is trivial. You can get a large bottle of my Youth Hand Lotion at any toilet counter, 60 cents.—Adv.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER 9

"WHY, I'm going to tell everybody in these hills, as fast as I get the time and opportunity. I wouldn't keep a joke like that from the poor dears for all the timber in the San Dimas. They're close-mouthed up here—these hillmen. They never talk out of their turn."

'How long ago was Mason here?"

"He came about an hour before you did."

"When did he depart?"

"Tony, I never speak out of my turn. I'll say this much, however. The sheriff knows he has Bob Mason cornered on Bogus; Bob Mason knows the sheriff has him cornered; and since it is the custom in this country for every man to kill his own snakes, and Bob Mason isn't armed—no, I wouldn't give him any weapons, and he would never ask me to do so—the issue is up to Bob."

"Well, if he's cornered on Bogus he'll be taken on Bogus. Where is the sheriff and his posse?"

"They cannot be very far away. I'm surprised you didn't meet one of them as you came up from Tantrum. I imagine the sheriff is busy posting his men on various points around Bogus."

"He'll require enough men to form a cordon around Bogus, otherwise his man will slip through in the dark. May I use your telephone, Monica?"

"Certainly not. Ever since the Jem Scully episode I never permit a man in my house. And I'll protect Bob Mason to the limit of my ability. If the chief ranger had trusted me, I'd permit you to enter my house and use the telephone to summon help in a hurry, but since the chief ranger expects disloyalty from me, then disloyalty he shall have."

He did not attempt to conceal his entire sympathy with her attitude. "I'm not sufficiently interested in your friend Bob Mason to insist on using the telephone," he replied with dignity. "Moreover, I've learned discretion," he added, and flipped the crumpled body of the blue jay with the toe of his boot. "However, I'm expected to cooperate with the sheriff, if you are not. Thank you for a delightful visit and a lesson in politeness and restraint. May I call again, Monica Dale?"

"Certainly, Tony. Call as often as you like." he gave him her hand and he bent low over it and kissed it reverently.

"Oh, aren't you noble!" cried Monica, with unfeigned joy. "I've read of such things in books, but I never, never expected to have it happen to me. Goodby, Tony."

He mounted his horse and with a graceful lift of his soft hat, rode off at a gallop down the trail, and in his youthful heart there was a strange, wild thumping. At the turn in the trail he looked back. Monica stood where he had left her; she was gazing after him. He tossed her an airy kiss—and thrilled as she returned it—with interest—one with each brown hand. He reflected that that was exactly like Monica Dale. No half-portions!

As for Monica—well, the great loneliness had lifted from her soul as lightly, as gradually as the fog had lifted over the San Dimas. When she went to the spring for a bucket of water, it suddenly occurred to her that one of Tony Garland eyebrows was a trifle higher than the other, thus lending to a somewhat serious countenance a touch of quizzicality.

"I frightened the poor boy half to death," she decided. "My, wasn't he embarrassed! And regretful! Why, I expected to see regret flowing out of his ears. He'll be almost a mile away before he recovers his senses; but he's not a fool and when the shock of my attack leaves him, he'll begin to use that head of his for thinking. He wasn't fooled by my attempt to lay the blame for Bob's snoring on old Nibay. That was the best I could do in a hurry, and it was pretty good at that, but not quite good enough. I outgamed him, though, when I accorded him permission to search my house. Gosh, that was real bluffing on no pair—and I took the pot.

"He was too much of a gentleman to doubt my word, but he must have noticed that at no time did I deny his charge but I had Bob Mason hidden in my house. He preferred to give me the impression that I was fooling him. No, he would never search my house himself. He wouldn't risk offending me, but—he'll communicate his bright ideas to the sheriff as quickly as he can, and the sheriff will search my house. Step lively, Monica. You'd hate yourself forever if you permitted a sheriff to outthink you."

She returned to the cabin with the bucket of water and at once set herself to the not inconsiderable task of awakening her guest from the profound sleep of exhaustion that was upon him. Eventually succeeding, she explained the situation to him.

"I'm too tired to think what to do, Monica. You'll have to think for me, girl," he pleaded wretchedly.

She led him to the window. "See that thick-topped mountain cedar about 50 feet below my yard fence? Well, take this blanket and some bread and jerked venison, walk boldly out of this house instantly and climb up into this mountain cedar—away up. And I'll have visitors looking for you tonight.

"After they have searched the barn, as they will, you slip down out of your perch, circle around and into the barn. You will find my saddle and bridle hanging on a peg, and my horse will be tied in his stall. Saddle him, lead him boldly out, mount up and fall in with the posse in the dark.

"If in the dark, somebody asks you who you are, tell them you're Garland, the ranger from Tantrum Meadows. He's a brand-new man and I think he's known to very few of the San Dimas ranger force."

Bob Mason grinned painfully. "I'll be out of luck if Garland should challenge me, Monica."

"Bob, one of the surest things about life is that one must take a chance. You make it. If you lose, you lose, that's all. If you're on Bogus at daylight tomorrow morning they'll get you. It's pretty open country to the south and east, and they'll watch this cabin from a distance, with field-glasses. Now, up in that mountain cedar, you prison bird, and mind you don't crow or snore or fall out of the tree and embarrass me. And, whatever you do, keep awake, I will not be able to climb that tree at the proper time to awaken you."

She gave him the blanket and food. Bob Mason rested his grimy hand on her shoulder. "Monica, you're the best friend a man ever had. I'll never forget this day as long as I live. I'll never be done with feeling grateful to you."

"Don't mention it, Bob. And another word of advice. If you get to Uncle Charley Canfield's, stay there until you hear from me. Don't try to get up into Plumas to see your baby. They'll have the baby watched, you know. But they'll not watch him forever. They'll quit in a month or two, and maintain an occasional surveillance. Promise me ou will not try to see the baby for at least three months."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Thursday. And it was fair to coldish when I opened the window to let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth. It was just cold enough so that I got goose pimples but not cold enough to make me shiver.

My face is better from being hit with Mealy Gutwaltz's school books and Feeble asked me why I don't let the cow step on it. She said that would help it some. Youniss told her to let the cow step on her own face if she was looking for a face that would really be improved. If Youniss and Feeble had been boys they would of fit. Being girls they only looked at each other. I am glad girls do not fight. It is kinda funny how a fella likes to see boys fight but don't like to see girls fight. I think Youniss was mad, but Feeble never gets mad. Feeble is only a spoofer. She likes to make other people mad.

When we got to school there were a lot of men in the vacant lot across the street from the school, and they were making a fire to stand by because it was kinda coldish. After school had started I kept one eye out of the window, and the men had got their fire made and were all standing with their hands over it getting warm. Then it looked like they all got their hands warm at once, and they the all turned around to warm their backs, and one of the men stood closer than the others, and the ends of his overcoat were hanging right in the fire, and pretty soon it began to smoke and then to blaze a little. I looked around at Banty and jerked my head so that he would look out of the window, and he gav one look and hollered "Fire! Fire!" and the way we have been learned to do. The teachers mashed a button that started the fire alarm in the school, and the monitors ran to their places and two of them opened the window and stood back. The girls went first and we boosted them through the window and the girls and boys from the other rooms on our side came through our room to go down our chute and in about a minute everyone was out, and nobody could see any fire.

Then the teacher asked Banty where the fire was, and he told her, and she asked the man who had run account when they thought the schoolhouse was on fire, and Banty showed her a man with half of his coat tails burnt off and then all of them a few started [illegible]

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

PRINCESS TRIED TO LOSE

THE voice of the Princess Olma of Transylvania, vibrant with repugnant scorn of the royal suitor her parents had forced upon her, trailed away into silence—a silence I did not dare break for fear of snapping the continuity of the absorbing story she was telling me.

It was a journey into a world entirely foreign to my own humdrum existence upon which she was "personally conducting" me, and I fairly held my breath in the pause which followed her description of the ill favored and middle-aged King of Flora to whom her parents had betrothed her.

"Then," she resumed, with a brightening of her tone, when I could see no way out but killing myself, my father and mother—wishing, I fancy, to give me a last good time before tying me up to an old man, said that I might make the trip too. Poor mother; she can't help being a queen and having to live up to the rules—she'd let me be happy if she could—"

Her face softened with tenderness, and with an impulsive gesture she opened the hand in which she had clutched the miniature case, opened it and pressed a kiss upon the exquisite presentment of the beautiful and famous queen of Transvania. Then she thrust it toward me.

"Isn't she marvelous, my beautiful maman?" she demanded.

"Indeed she is," I returned, trying to make my voice sound sincere, but my heart was hot against the woman who could so sacrifice her child, no matter how hide-bound the traditions which surrounded her.

"But she's like iron when she makes up her mind to any course," the daughter of the resolute queen went on, "so I knew that my trip to America would be my last glimpse of freedom, that going back to Transvania afterward would be the same thing as going to prison for life, and—quite suddenly—I made up my mind that I never would go back to Transvania.

"Of course, that was much easier to say, and to dream about than to accomplish. In all your country, I knew but two people, Henry and Anna Schmidt, whom you know as my uncle and aunt, Henry and Anna Lincoln. Anna had been my nurse until I grew too old for such service and Henry was a steward on one of the estates. Both are devoted to me, and both were nearly heartbroken as I when Henry's brother, who early had emigrated to America and prospered, was found dead and Henry, his sole heir, had to come over and live upon his property. I knew that they would help me in anything I wished to do, and would keep any secret of mine as safe as the grave, if I could only get to them. I was sure that only I, of our family, knew their address, for my mother did not like either of them particularly, and had not kept track of them.

The next question was that of money, for I knew I should need a great deal of it. I had some of my own in a bank which I drew out the last day before we left the country, and I managed to bring all my personal jewels with me. But it was not enough, and I was overjoyed when the chance offered itself to do a favor—deliver a message over here for some one who was willing to pay what was a fortune to me for the favor. But—it's like the Old Man of the Sea around my neck, that favor. However, that's nothing to bother you with now."

Secretly I disagreed with her. I was very sure that is was the crux of her story, and that if I were to aid her in the danger which so palpably threatened her, it was most necessary that I bear more of this mysterious person who was willing to "pay a fortune" for the delivery of a message.

You cannot be attractive without a clear skin

EVERYBODY wants to be attractive. It is a great and just ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin—you know that.

Do you realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of most skin disorders is in the blood?

Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs, and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

Mothers:

Next to the natural laxative from a mother's breast, a plain, old-fashioned preparation is always best for keeping baby's little digestive tract clean and sweet. When our little one doesn't eat, or can't sleep, give him a few drops of plain Castoria. It is purely vegetable, you know. Any doctor will tell you that it is utterly harmless to the youngest infant. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. Yet its gentle influence is soon felt all through the tiny system. Not even castor oil can compete with Castoria and how much better it is to use this milder means of regulating a baby! Never give baby paregoric or similar opiates, because, a few drops of Castoria are just as soothing, and no harm is done. That's the beauty of using pure Castoria; you can give it just as often as you discover any sign of colic, constipation, or diarrhea—or those times when you don't know just what it is that has caused an upset. Only get the genuine Castoria—bearing Fletcher's signature. It isn't expensive, and with every bottle comes the book, "Care and Feeding of Babies"—worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

Earl N. Hale, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Tiffin, has accepted the general secretaryship of the Marion Y. M. C. A., it was announced here today.

Hale tendered his resignation at Tiffin yesterday. Date of his arrival here will be determined when his successor at Tiffin is appointed.

There Four Years

Hale went to Tiffin four years ago after serving as religious secretary of the Youngstown association. Konjola Helped Her After Forty Years Suffering

She Was Afflicted Since Childhood; Now Entirely Out of Misery

MRS. IDA SELLS

"Konjola did more for me in three weeks than anything else I have ever taken in 40 years, and I am entirely out of misery for the first time since childhood," said Mrs. Ida Sells, Maxwell and Wyandotte Sts., Columbus, Ohio.

"I can remember how I would suffer with terrible stomach cramps that nearly doubled me up with pains and I was only a young girl. All my life I suffered with indigestion pains and gas bloating. I would get sick to my stomach and the only relief was to vomit. At night I suffered heartburn and smothering spells and I didn't know what it was to get a full night's sleep.

"I started with Konjola and in three weeks all my troubles were gone. Now I can eat anything I want and everything digests perfectly. I never thought one medicine would end all my troubles that quick, but Konjola did it."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new estate of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

BANKS HERE FAVOR CHARGE FOR SERVICE

communities, listed in Marion County's classification, the minimum limit is $100.

The customary plan is to make the charge on a monthly basis. Where the $100 limit is in effect, an assessment of $1 is made against an account for any month in which the balance falls below the required amount.

In some instances the charge is 50 cents a month for balances below $50. Bankers generally regard this limit as too low.

Elyria Man Speaks

There are only two counties in the district organization known as Group No. 9 of the Ohio Association which do not have the service charge, it was reported at last night's meeting. One of these is Marion County and the other Erie County. It was stated that Erie County bankers have already arranged to put the plan into effect. There are 10 counties in the district.

The subject was introduced at last night's meeting in the address of Arthur B. Taylor of Elyria, president of the Lorain County Savings & Trust Co. Mr. Taylor, who was the principal speaker on the program, submitted facts and figures to show that small and unprofitable accounts have created a serious problem for banks throughout the country. The service charge, he declared, is the most effective remedy.

70 Attend

The meeting, which followed dinner at 6:30 o'clock at Hotel Harding, was attended by 70 representatives of Marion County's 13 banks, which include six in the city of Marion and seven in the villages. The village banks include two in LaRue and one each in Caledonia, Morral, Green Camp, Waldo and Prospect.

Those present last night were executive officers and directors of the various banks.

Although bank deposits have shown a large increase throughout the country in recent years, the average of net profits from the business has declined, Mr. Taylor declared.

He expressed the opinion that this is due largely to the expense of carrying unprofitable accounts. Authentic statistics show, the Elyria banker said, that it costs a bank an average of three cents for each check handled for its depositors.

Cites Abuses

No account will yield a profit for the bank which carries it unless a reasonable balance is maintained, Mr. Taylor stated. He called attention to various abuses of banking service which have been increasing in recent years.

He mentioned some depositors who make a practice of writing checks when they know that sufficient funds for coverage are not in the bank, their plan being to make a deposit before the check is presented for payment.

Others, he said, depend upon the bank to notify them when their accounts are overdrawn.

These and similar practices, Mr. Taylor said, are a source of expense and trouble which the bank should not be asked to contend with. They add to the cost of operation in addition to having the bank furnish service without compensation.

Other Speakers

Talks were also given by A. B. Whitney of Upper Sandusky, president of Group No. 6 of the Ohio Bankers' Association, and Charles H. Mylander of Columbus, secretary of the state organization.

Mr. Whitney discussed banking operations in his district and Mr. Mylander spoke mainly on the subject of taxes.

He referred in particular to an effort being made by the leading banks of Columbus to remedy alleged defects in the plan of taxing banks.

The contention, Mylander says, is that banks in Ohio pay more than their share of taxes in comparison with building and loan associations. In order to bring the matter to a definite issue, the Columbus banks have started court action and are now paying their taxes under protest.

The meeting last night was in charge of Charles E. Merkel, county chairman. Arrangements were in charge of a committee comprising Mr. Merkel, T. L. Fahey, Frank J. Weber and Robert E. White.

Prince of Wales Uninjured After Fall From Horse

London, March 29—Although again thrown from his horse, Miss Moffat, the Prince of Wales today won the point to point race for officers belonging to the Highland Brigade Club. The race was run at Lockington, Surrey.

When only three fences from the finish the Prince was thrown over his horse's head, but he was unhurt, and quickly remounted, finishing a quarter of a mile ahead of his nearest competitor.

INTEREST GROWS IN REVIVAL SERVICES

Prospect Delegation Expected to Attend at Emmanuel Baptist Tonight

Growing interest is reported in the revival services in progress at Trinity and Emmanuel Baptist and First United Brethren Churches. The Trinity service last night, for which the church auditorium was filled to capacity, was featured by vocal numbers by Mrs. Maude Wentz MacDonald, contralto soloist of the Broad Street Presbyterian Church, Columbus. D. L. Moody, Columbus, was heard in several special numbers and the pastor, Dr. U. S. Davis, preached on "The Bread Man."

Prospect Delegation

Dr. Davis' sermon tonight will be on the subject, "Is There Any Difference?" Professor Moody will lead a song service.

A delegation from Prospect is expected at the revival service at Emmanuel Church tonight when the pastor, Rev. Earl L. Holliday, will preach on the subject, "A Hurried Call." Last night Reverend Holliday preached at a fairly-well attended service on the subject, "What Is a Christian?" based on Romans 8:9, "Now if any man hath not the spirit of Christ he is none of His." The choir sang "Make a Full Surrender Now."

Last night at the U. B. Church, Evangelist Carl Vernon Roop, of Findlay, preached on the subjice, "The Power of Prayer," taking as his text, Luke 11:1, "Lord teach us to pray."

Declaring that thousands of prayers that are offered are not heard and answered because of unconfessed sins, an unforgiving spirit, a lack of faith or because of selfishness, the evangelist outlined and discussed the Lord's Prayer given by Christ to his disciples when he said, "Lord teach us to pray."

Song Service

Preceding the sermon B. K. Hill directed a song service and sang as a solo number, "Prevailing Prayer." There were numerous responses to an invitation to the altar.

Tonight Reverend Roop will preach on the subject, "The Changeless Christ." Announcement has been made of a special meeting for men only to be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the church when Reverend Roop will preach on the subject, "A Terrific Whirlwind."

STRICT ENFORCEMENT PROMISED ORDINANCE

New Building Permit Rule Provides for Sliding Scale on Fees

Plans for the enforcement of the new building permit ordinance which provides a new schedule of rates and which becomes effective Monday, are being made by city officials. The new ordinance will be enforced to the letter, City Clerk Keller said today. In addition to a close check being kept on new buildings, those now in the course of construction will be checked to learn whether or not a permit has been secured.

The new ordinance provides a charge of 50 cents for a permit for a building of an estimated cost of $200 or less, $1 for a building costing from $200 to $1,000 and $1 for each additional thousand. A fine of not less than $10 or more than $100 for a violation of the ordinance is also provided. A rush for permits the latter part of the week while the rate of 50 cents still exists, is looked for by the city clerk.

WOMAN CRIPPLED IN ATTEMPTED ESCAPE

Another Captured After Break at Marysville; Were Serving Short Terms

Marysville, March 29—Mrs. Lucille Gardey, 23, alias Virginia Hall, of Cleveland, will probably be crippled for life as a result of her attempt to escape from the Woman's Reformatory here early today, and Miss Beulah Fowler, 22, Columbus, will be placed in solitary confinement. The latter was a partner in the attempted escape.

The women made a rope out of blankets, with which to gain their freedom from the second floor dormitory.

When Miss Fowler slid down the improvised rope she was sighted by another inmate of the institution who screamed. Startled, Mrs. Gardey who was watching the descent of Miss Fowler fell from the second story window.

Mrs. Gardey sustained a fractured ankle and other injuries which hospital attaches said, will be permanent.

Miss Fowler fled, but was captured within 400 yards by Mrs. Mary Storer, of Dayton, night matron of the institution. Both women were serving short terms for minor offenses.

GOVERNOR DENIES REPORT OF SUCCESSOR TO FERRIS

Lansing, Mich., March 29—Gov. Fred W. Green today declined to confirm a report published in a Detroit newspaper that he had appointed Arthur H. Vandenberg, Grand Rapids publisher, United States Senator to succeed Woodbridge N. Ferris.

"I have made no appointment," the governor said. "And I have told no one whom I would appoint."

150 FROM HERE TO GO TO LIMA TONIGHT

Special Train to Carry Group to Bluem Store's Formal Opening

A special train, carrying approximately 300 persons who will attend the formal opening of the Bluem store at Lima, tonight, was scheduled to leave Marion on the Erie railroad at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Included in the party will be employes and officers of the Uhler-Phillips Co. of this city and R. B. Maxwell Co., of Mansfield, the two firms which with the Bluem company of Lima were recently merged into a new corporation known as Incorporated Stores.

In addition there were to be a large number of other residents of Marion, Mansfield and neighboring communities.

The train left Mansfield at 4 o'clock this afternoon and was due to arrive here shortly before 5 o'clock, stopping at the Prospect-st crossing, from where it was to continue the run to Lima.

system which was discontinued after the trial four years ago has been removed, it is pointed out. Other cities, having tried various types of lights, including those which are to be replaced here, are adopting the side arm type universally, according to the report of a survey made by city officials.

Example of Operation

As a concrete example of the manner in which the lights will work a motorist going west on Center-st in approaching Main-st would look directly in front of him to the light in front of the National City Bank & Trust Co.

The sign directing traffic south on Main-st at Center-st will be located along the S. Main-st curbing in front of the Marion County Bank. The sign directing traffic north on Main-st will be located along the Main-st curbing at the corner of the Courthouse, and the signal directing traffic east on Center-st at this intersection will be located along the Center-st curbing in front of the Schulte Cigar store.

All of the lights will be suspended on side arms erected on poles. They will be extended out from the curb line far enough to avoid confusion and will be directly in the driver's range of vision.

In addition to being equipped with a control that will permit the desk sergeant at police headquarters to turn on or off or control the speed of the lights, at will, the system will be equipped with an emergency flash control that will enable the desk sergeant to cause any series of lights to flash the caution light continuously. This is used during a run of the fire department or in some other emergency.

would "dare confess its moral delinquency to the world" by refusing to face the issue of constitutional enforcement.

"It looks," he said significantly, "as if we were going to have a dilute campaign in which no man or woman will be spared who comes within reach of the firing line.

"But you will observe that upon the subject of the Eighteenth Amendment there is a 'concord of sweet sounds.' Republican voices and Democratic voices blend in exquisite harmony.

"A few months ago certain Republicans were going to force a plank for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and certain Democrats were going to do likewise in the democratic party—but where there once were vigorous voices now no sound stirs the stagnant air which envelopes the council chamber.

Neutral Territory

"The men who understand practical politics are agreed. No matter how fierce, the battle elsewhere, the Eighteenth Amendment is neutral territory—and the antagonists meet for consultation and congratulation. What is the constitution between enemies?"

With almost evangelistic fervor, Borah exhorted his hearers to "move on Kansas City and Houston."

"Insist upon being heard before the committee," he said. "Knock at the doors of committee rooms. What they are doing there concerns you. It is your affairs they are passing on. They are your agents.

"There will be an effort to adopt planks so meaningless and so near alike that the voters have no choice.

"The first battle in the struggle ahead should be at Kansas City and Houston, and the next on the Ides of November."

United States. The second year it went outside the country and has remained there since.

This year the international contest will be participated in by the United States, England, France, Germany, Mexico, Canada, Japan, Cuba and Holland.

Follow U. S. Plan Abroad

The plan of the contest followed is the National Oratorical Contest in the United States for the last four years—the chief characteristic of which is newspaper sponsorship and the closest possible co-operation of the schools and civic organizations in each community, district or state—is utilized abroad insofar as it is possible to apply it to other lands.

Just now throughout Ohio pupils of secondary schools are rapidly approaching the state semi-finals—a contest in which each of the five districts into which Ohio has been divided will select one representative to come to Canton, as the guest of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, to compete for state honors and the privilege of proceeding into the national semi-finals, to be held on May 11 at Troy, N. Y.

The Brush-Moore Newspapers are sponsoring the Ohio contest. The state is divided into five districts—one for each of the cities in which there is a Brush-Moore newspaper—Canton, Steubenville, Marion, East Liverpool and Salem. From the state at large, but representative of each of these districts, will come the semi-finals winners, and on April 27 the state finals will be held in Canton.

The contest to determine Marion County's representative in the district semi-finals to be held in Marion April 20 will take place Friday night in the Star Auditorium. Three contestants will give orations, Miss Naomi Close of Caledonia, Miss Luella Northrup of Prospect and Carl Whitman of LaRue.

Announcement was made today of the birth of a son, Donald Harrison, last Friday, to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Clark, Bennett-st.

THE careful home owner examines his roof once each year instead of waiting three or four years until the rest of his home is painted.

He knows that the roof is subjected to harder wear, in rain, sun and snow, than other parts of the house. Also that paint does not hold up as long on metal surfaces as it does on wood.

He realizes that the smallest leak in the roof may cause lasting damage to walls and ceilings below.

A coat of Foy's Roof Paint once each year costs but little. It is the cheapest insurance you can buy for your home.

COMPROMISE SEEN IN DITCH CONTROVERSY

Settlement Indicated at Hearing Held Before Board of County Commissioners

Probabilities that a compromise settlement will be effected in the controversy over the proposed Ququa ditch improvement was indicated yesterday following a hearing before the Board of County Commissioners, which lasted almost two days.

After listening to testimony and arguments given by various interested parties and by attorneys representing both proponents and opponents of the improvement, the board adjourned the hearing until 10 a. m., April 18.

It was stated that developments at conference following the adjournment furnish prospects of an agreement which will make it possible for the commissioners to proceed with the project.

Land owners from southeast of the city who have filed objections to the improvement have made known their willingness to accept a reasonable settlement, it was reported. Claims for compensation and damages amounting to approximately $35,000 have been filed by these protestants. Rather than become involved in a court fight, they have practically agreed to compromise terms satisfactory to all concerned, according to statements of county officials.

Should a settlement be worked out in accordance with present prospects, it will mean the consummation of plans for a drainage project of unusual importance. It has been under consideration since May 20, 1926, when a petition for the improvement was filed by the Marion Cemetery Association, St. Mary's Cemetery trustees, Vernon Heights Realty Co. and the Harding Memorial Association.

The improvement will provide urgently needed drainage facilities for the southeast section of the city and adjoining territory.

The Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, has fixed Monday, April 16, at ten (10) o'clock A. M., on the site of the proposed improvement as the time and place for a view thereof, and has fixed Saturday, April 28, 1928, at ten (10) o'clock A. Two Girls Live On Hot Water and Rice

Because of stomach trouble, Miss A. H. and sister lived on hot water and rice. But since taking Adlerika, they say, they can eat anything and feel fine.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., known as Adlerika, has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often poisons the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. H. L. Shook, New York, writes: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and bacilli."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 30 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. F. Padgett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will astonish you the great amount of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Sold in Marion by Hennecy & Cooper and other druggists. —Adv.

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

DON'T worry about your "sex appeal."

Unless you have some OTHER appeal, you're only "one of a crowd" in the average man's consciousness, anyway.

The truth is that almost any pretty woman who knows enough to keep her nose powdered, her hair curled, and the seams in her stockings straight, has more or less sex-appeal for almost ANY man.

Dimpled knees and cooing wars don't make a man dizzy any more. They have lost their potency, now that "sex-appeal" is as common as adenoids, as obvious as a gold tooth, and as free as the air at a filling station.

The day has passed when women feared a professional "vamp." The girl that a wife fears, nowadays, is the bright-eyed, intelligent, snappy business girl down in her husband's office, who "understands" him. The girl with individuality. If Cleopatra wanted to vamp a modern American man she would have to chloroform him, first.

One dimple doesn't stir him any more than another dimple; one lipstick is just as cloying as another lipstick; one permanent wave is no more provocative than another permanent wave. Every woman is gotten up to look like a heart-wrecker, these days.

The only way in which one girl can stand out from all the others or make a dent in a man's consciousness, is by finding some OTHER "appeal"—mental appeal, emotional appeal, spiritual appeal—and playing it to win.

It is that something BEHIND a woman's eyes and underneath the water-wave—that something "different"—which strikes the spark in his imagination and lights up the "scenery."

It may be a ready wit, an original line, a wistful smile, a charm of voice or trick of manner or just plain sweetness or radiance or beauty of character; but it is that something distinctive—that SUPER-appeal—which spells "personality."

Glance around at the women who are the happiest wives, the women who have drawn Grade A husbands, and know how to keep those husbands devoted, and you will be astonished to see how little so-called "sex-appeal" they exhibit. That is because they have put all the emphasis on that "other appeal."

* * *

Wherever you find a woman who is adored, you will find a woman with the kind of "appeal" that won't wash off with the make-up or wear off with age, or die until SHE dies—personality!

It is not the shape or the paint or the upholstery that distinguishes one car from another or makes one girl a charmer and another a flat-tire. It is what's under the hood!

An exterior view of the First Christian Church, Canton, where the Ohio finals in the International Oratorical Contest are to be presented on Friday night, April 27.

Congressman McSweeney writes that he is glad of the opportunity to serve as one of the five judges. His letter reads:

"As a school teacher, and now as representative from the 16th Ohio district, I want to impress upon you that nothing could give me more pleasure than to have some small part in the wonderful oratorical contest that your papers are sponsoring.

"I only hope that my experience and training will make me worthy of passing judgment upon the efforts of these young people. I shall do everything that I can to prepare myself to be a worthy judge."

NOCTOVISOR INVENTOR TO VISIT UNITED STATES

London—Britain is in danger, through official apthy, of losing the new invention of J. L. Baird, known as the noctovisor, which gives the power of vision in total darkness.

It is stated that this apparatus will pierce the thickest fog and will disclose the movements of troops in darkness; spot night flying aeroplanes, and simplify navigation.

But although British officialdom remains uninterested it is understood that several other nations, Germany in particular, have approached the inventor.

It is expected that Baird will visit the United States this month to discuss his invention with American authorities for use in connection with aerial work.

JEWELRY STORE DUST NETS $20,000 FORTUNE

Chicago, Ill.—A gold and platinum "mine" in the heart of the Chicago loop has been discovered, it became known here, and will yield between $18,000 and $20,000 to its finder, William F. Juergens, Sr.

Juergens and Anderson company, manufacturing jewelers, moved from an office building on north State street, to the Pittsfield building.

Before they moved, the jewelers tore up the wooden floor which they had installed years before in their old quarters. Under the old floor they found a 30 year accumulation of gold and platinum dust.

The precious metals were mixed with the dust and dirt that had gathered beneath the floor. Juergens and Anderson gathered up the dust in the "mine" and sent it to be refined and reclaimed.

DIRECTED VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY

Motion of Attorney for E. E. Nash and Others Sustained by Judge

A directed verdict in favor of the defendants was returned by a jury in Court of Common Pleas this morning in the suit of Emma Aiken, guardian of William J. Koch, a minor, against E. E. Nash and the Watts-Kimble Motor Co, an action which resulted from an automobile trade.

After testimony of the plaintiff was completed, a motion to direct the verdict was made by J. D. Williamson, attorney for the defendants. It was sustained by Judge Seofield

In her petition, Mrs. Aiken charged that Koch, her step-son, had been defrauded in the automobile transaction, which occurred at Ogden, Utah. The Watts Kimble Co. is in the automobile business there.

Koch, according to the account given by his guardian, was traveling through the west with E. E. Nash in a Ford sedan, which he traded for a Lincoln, giving a mortgage on the Lincoln for $1 [illegible] as an additional payment. The petition charged that he made the deal as the result of misrepresentations from Nash and the Watts-Kimble Co.

Testimony introduced at the hearing failed to prove any of these charges, it was stated.

The Lincoln car, which is to be returned to the Watts Kimble Co., is at a local garage, where it has been held under attachment since the suit was started about a year ago.

Mrs. Aiken and her step son are residents of Bellefontaine, she being the wife of Don Aiken, prominent Bellefontaine attorney.

Divorce Granted

Wilma F. Gompf was granted a divorce from Dennis A. Gompf following hearing of the suit before Judge Scofield, yesterday. Her application for alimony was denied and the husband was awarded title to all equity in their property on Lake st.

Mr. and Mrs. Gompf were married in 1906 and have a son, 19 years of age. Mrs. Gompf based her suit for divorce on charges of extreme cruelty, alleging that her husband was of a quarrelsome temperament.

Both parties were present at the hearing. Mrs. Gompf was represented by attorney J. W. Jacoby and the husband by L. E. Myers.

Affairs Wound Up

Affairs of the Marion Journal Co were definitely wound up in Court of Common Pleas this morning when the receiver, Ben T. Want, filed his next and final report. It was approved and the receiver discharged by Judge Scofield. A 12 per cent dividend was paid preferred creditors.

Sale Confirmed

Sale of property has been confirmed and proceeds ordered distributed in the foreclosure suit of the Marion Citizens' Loan Co against Arthur C. Hoffman and others

Trail Fugitive Postmaster into Dense Wood of New York

Walkhill, N. Y., March 29—Bloodhounds were led into the dense wood today to pick up the trail of Harry McHugh, fugitive village postmaster, hunted as the slayer of Marie Terwilliger, 19-year-old telephone operator.

While McHugh's youngest brother, Jesse, sat desolately in the funeral parlor of Charles Ronk, near the body of his murdered fiancee, the missing postmaster, an experienced woodman, was believed to be hiding in the thick brush of Ulster County.

Residents of the town believe Harry McHugh became desperate with love for the dead girl when he realized she was to marry his younger brother and was spurred to murder by the effects of shell shock received in the war. He had been brooding for weeks.

Possibly the loneliest Englishwoman in the world is Miss Rachel Wingate, who is the only Englishwoman in Chinese Turkestan, cut off from the rest of the world by mountain passes and a vast desert. Miss Wingate left England four years ago, and it attached to a Swedish mission at Kashgar, a city farther from the ocean than any other in the world.

A scoring dial to enable golf players to record their strokes for each hole as well as for an entire game has been invented, the indicators returning to zero when a switch is pulled.

SPRING MODES ENLIVENED BY RICH COLORS

With the approach of the first robin came the offerings of the smart dress shops to enhance milady's trousseau. Here are three models that will prove popular. At the left an American-designed dotted costume of printed crepe de chine. Note the narrow belt, and shoulder tie of the same material. Red and white colors balance a deep scarlet skirt border. In the center a novelty French Challis dress of printed crepe in red and white tones. Long sleeves and unique jabot flounces make it different. Black braid edges of the flounces and black bows at the shoulder and waistline make unusual decorative touches. Cool comfort is in the model at the right.

Plans Being Considered to Organize Baseball Team in School

Kenton, March 29—Although no definite action has been taken, there is a possibility that a baseball team will be organized to represent St. Anthony School here in the district tournament to be held possibly at Ohio Northern University, Ada, in May under the supervision of the Northwestern Ohio High School Athletic association.

Plenty of material with the exception of a pitcher, is available now for the formation of a club it is pointed out. And should a club be formed there are several likely candidates who might be drafted for the mound position and who would be able to deliver creditably after brief workouts.

Which Will You Save?
YOU can save pennies or save chicks. Poultry yard facts show that ordinary untested rations and mixtures such as hard boiled eggs and oatmeal save pennies but not chicks. Usually 50% of them die. Poultrymen who are making money invest one penny more per chick and save 90 to 100% of their chicks. They feed Purina Chick Startena, the buttermilk starting ration containing Cod Liver Oil. We'll be glad to tell you of a feeding plan that's as simple as A B C. It saves chicks and brings them through to early maturity.

Yanks Will Not Win League Pennant So Easy This Year

IMPROVEMENT NOTED AMONG GENERAL RUN OF AMERICAN TEAMS

Club Still Has Prospects To Head Loop, Smart Ball Men Say

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, March 29—One of the best bets of the day is that the world's champion New York Yankees will not be bowed politely into another American League pennant this year; that, if they win again, which is entirely plausible, they will be pursued up to the wire, not escorted, and that they may even experience a few bad moments enroute.

This is not written because the Yanks are blowing a lot of exhibition games in the south. It represents, in fact, the dispassionate opinion of smart baseball men, who pay exactly no attention to exhibition records. These, after all, can within the general meaning of a swell practice putt. The Yankees have the stuff and sooner or later it will come out like a pardoned convict.

But there is a well founded suspicion that the pitching they had and the hitting they knew last year are no more and never again will be. They still figure to get plenty of both, of course; enough, in fact, so that the man doesn't live who would bet against them as a pennant prospect. The only thing is that the league is somewhat better and the Yanks are somewhat worse.

Ruth, Gehrig Not So Good

Any baseball man, for example, will lay you odds that Ruth and Gehrig don't hit all those home runs again. They say that one of them may repeat but never both. It may be mentioned that Ruth and Gehrig have hit precisely none so far.

The Yanks themselves will bet you that they don't beat the St. Louis Browns nearly as many times as they did last year. Their 1927 record against the Browns was a baseball miracle and those kind of things just don't happen more than once. It accounted for not a small portion of the Yankees' 19-game lead at the pay off.

Much of their earlier success, too, was due to the prostrate character of the Boston Red Sox. The latter may be none too vertical yet but Bill Carrigan's influence is beginning to percolate and the Sox figure to win more games from everybody, including the Yankees.

League Well Balanced

The prospects for the American League race, of course, indicate no little lack of general balance. This, however, is not confined to the admitted contenders, which, until proved otherwise, must be regarded as having improved their hands before the draw.

The Detroit Tigers, for instance, were one of the reigning disappointments of the 1927 race, due to one thing or another and mostly both. Chronic injuries might account for this in part but not altogether. The Tigers just didn't click. Yet they have the class and nobody looking for them to finish so far off the pace this time. If they don't, it will mean that they have won considerably more games than they did last year and these will have to come from somewhere. The Yankees won't furnish all of them and they won't furnish none of them, either. A tighter race means a contribution from everybody to the club that happens to get up there.

The other contenders, Washington and the Athletics, either have improved their chances or every one is being fooled. Maybe, as, alleged, Cobb and Speaker won't help Connie; I can't see them hurting him much, at that. However, in the last analysis, the club's advance must come from its pitching and, frankly, there is no reason to expect that it will blow as badly as it did in the early months of the last campaign. As for the Senators, an outfit with their kind of pitching can't go very far wrong and a good bet is that it won't.

AT BANQUET

Members of the Red and Black basketball team of the Harding High School were guests at a banquet at the Marion Hotel last night.

THREATENS MATCH

Would Give Risko Boot If Heeney Fails To Sign

NEW YORK, March 29—Jess McMahon matchmaker for Promoter Tex Rickard, now threatens to match Johnny Risko with Gene Tunney unless Charlie Harvey, manager for Tom Heeney, agrees to a Risko-Heeney elimination bout.

Harvey has disappeared. He is reported to be enroute to Florida to obtain Rickard's approval of a Heeney-Tunney scrap.

EAGLES NAME FOGLE HEAD OF RECREATION BALL TEAM AT MEET

Plans Being Completed for Annual Banquet at Wesley April 12

With the time drawing near when final plans will be made for the opening of the recreation ball season in Marion sometime in May, another organization has entered the steady growing list of teams.

At a meeting last night the Eagle Lodge named Emanuel Fogle to manage the team that will represent them on the diamonds this year. The nine men will be picked when the team is organized.

Plans are being completed by John Clark, president of the recreation ball commission, for the annual banquet on April 12 at Wesley M. E. Church. Captains and managers of teams as well as fans interested in the game will attend.

A new commission will be selected at the meeting. This body will then meet and draw up schedules and adopt rules and regulations to govern the season's play. It has been intimated in many circles that last year's rules would not be changed for the coming season.

President Clark has not selected a speaker to talk at the banquet, he announced last night. The selection will probably be made within the next few days.

Efforts will be made to make the coming season even more successful than last. Approximately 40 teams are expected to enter five leagues sponsored by the commission. A number of independent teams will be seen on the field again this year.

BOWLING RESULTS

Blum led her team to a two game victory over Sautter's last night on the Y. M. C. A. alleys by rolling a total of 333 pins.

Porter's and Reynold's broke even while balanced bowling gave Slagle's a clean sweep over Burnett's.

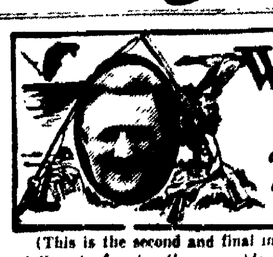
YANKEES ARE DEFEATED BY BUFFALO TEAM, 5-4

St. Petersburg, March 29—The New York Yankees have won only one game in the grapefruit league this spring and they can't even beat minor leaguers. They lost to Buffalo yesterday, 5 to 4, and will attempt to get back at the Bisons today.

SET EIGHT RECORDS

New Haven, Conn., March 29—In nine days the Yale swimming team has set eight world's records. Last night in a practice meet here the Eli mermen cracked three records in team relays. The new marks are 1:35 1-5 for 200 yards, 1:59 2-5 for 250 yards, and 2:21 3-5 for 300 yards.



WOODS and WATERS by HOMER BOW

(This is the second and final installment of a treatise on outdoor photography.)

When one has mastered focusing and finding, but little remains with the camera, as they will practically take care of themselves. Bright days water photos and so on, of course, take less time to photograph than an object which is dull in color or any object on a somber day.

The first fundamental learned in photography is that a picture can not be taken towards the sun. Yet a great deal of this evil can be eliminated if the lens is shaded, placed in a shadow by the use of a hat or other object, and the operator stoops down a bit.

It seems as if the best kodak for an outdoorsman is one of the small folding type. Personally I would suggest one with a fixed, or universal focus. This will enable quick work and no errors in bellows extension. The lens used is a modern standard affair and equipped with a shutter which would show from a tenth to 100th of a second with the conventional time exposure privilege.

It would not be longer than three and a quarter by four and a quarter inches, as enlargements can be made from the negatives. It would use the pack film although most people prefer the roll film, which is indeed handier under all circumstances.

Were it not for the bulk and weight of the graflex, this style camera would be ideal, after the operator has learned to master it. Despite the fact they are decidedly in the road, they will prove their worth in spite of the large initial cost.

A graflex differs from the ordinary kodak in several ways. No shutter is fitted upon the lens. Instead a curtain, with apertures, passes over the negative in the back of the camera. This curtain is controlled in speed by spring tension and offers exposure speeds from a tenth to 1000th of a second. It is possible with this camera to stop down action of almost any sort and results are truly remarkable. Operation is decidedly simple after a few fundamentals are mastered.

One focuses a graflex by looking into the top of the camera and out through the lens. This is accomplished by means of a mirror. The bellows are moved until the image being photographed, becomes sharp and defined. Shutter speeds can be regulated on stills by the way the image appears on the finder. The same applies to stopping down.

On an extended trip into the wilderness an outdoor enthusiast often wishes to see the results of his pictures before his arrival home. The equipment necessary on this trip to secure these results is not bulky or weighty.

Developers for prints and negatives are combined into one effective chemical, which is carried in a small glass tube. Hypo, or fixing solution, is contained in packets and both can be dissolved and made ready for use in cold water.

A collapsible "dark room lamp" with its red shields is made to operate with a candle. This is essential to working handily.

Three enameled trays, one for developer, one for hypo and the other for water, should be taken. Then come the printing frame and the paper snap, clothespin to hold up drying negatives and prints. This actually completes the necessary excess baggage, as you will have a flash light in your kit. It can be used for printing and is far better if a piece of white tissue paper or a handkerchief is placed over the lens to diffuse the light.

If the prospective photographer has never done his developing and printing, he should practice at home. A photographic store, retailing supplies, has a person who will gladly instruct you on the usage of your purchases.

The statement was made that a pack film camera was preferred to a roll film. The reason lies in outdoor development. All exposures on a roll film must be "shot" before developing. This is not the case in a pack film and, furthermore, films from a pack are easier to handle in the field.

MARATHONERS HAVE BATTLE WITH STORM

Detroit Medico Continues to Lead 95 Runners at Twenty-fifth Control

Albuquerque, N. Mex., March 29—C. C. ("Cross Country") Pyle's marathoners battled with the elements today as they pushed on to their twenty sixth control at Moriarty, 27 miles from Seven Springs. The 95 staunch hearted men detoured away from the alleys of Albuquerque only to encounter a terrific mountain sandstorm that pelted their sunburned bodies like hail during the 37-mile trek from Los Lunas.

Arne Suominen, Detroit medico, continued to hold the lead through the 992 miles from Los Angeles to Seven Springs, with 150:18.05 as his elapsed time.

For three days the Pyle caravan will be out of touch with the world, as they carry forward to Amarillo, Texas, where they are scheduled to halt next Wednesday. Correspondents with the party will travel through the night to reach points of communication from which to relay news of the marathoners.

CLEVELAND INDIANS AIM TO STAY NEAR HEAD OF STANDINGS

Tribe Management Abandons Idea of Buying Clubs for Farm Purposes

New Orleans, March 29—The present aim of the new management of the Cleveland American League baseball club is to keep the team at or near the top of the junior circuit, each season.

This hope was revealed by Vice President and General Manager Billy Evans, during his recent visit to the Indians' spring training camp here.

"That's aim," Evans declared, "is to build up to the point where we can stay at or near the top all the time, with good young fellows coming up every year to replace the aging veterans. I believe we've made a mighty good start toward that objective.

See Better Team

"We have not tried to deceive the Cleveland fans with promises of a pennant winner this season. However, we want to have a better club than Cleveland had last year, of course."

Evans stated that the tribe management had abandoned the project of buying a Class A or Class B league baseball club to serve as a farm at least for the time being.

"We have already fairly satisfactory working relations with some good clubs," the former umpire said. "New Orleans and Terre Haute for example."

Evans stressed the fact that several "smart" minor league managers had recognized the recruit talent in camp, as confirming his opinion that Cleveland "has on the present squad a pretty good ball club for some years to come."

Among the most sought after members of the Indian squad training here are a group of youthful pitchers—Wesley Ferrell, Verne Underhill, Ollie Perry, Earl Collard, and Mel Harder; Short top Jonah Goldman, formerly of Syracuse university; Infielders Eddie Eddie Montague and Dan Jessee; Outfielder John Gill and Catcher Richard, "Dick" Stahlman.

Applicants for the tribe's surplus talent probably will be compelled to wait until about the middle of June, it was said, as that is the time when the roster must be cut to the legal limit of 25 men.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh expects to carry 30 men until the time mentioned, he declared.

Plain talk should never be plain to the point of coarseness. Lots of novelists don't know this.

FARTHEST-FLYING WOMAN

Starting from London last October, Mrs. Keith Miller, wife of an Australian journalist, completed the longest flight ever made by a woman when she landed at Fort Darwin, North Australia. Mishaps, poor flying weather, a crash in Batavia, a broken nose, failed to daunt the intrepid aviatrix, who alternated with Captain Lancaster at the controls.

HOPELESS INVALID FOR YEARS

On Her Feet A Few Weeks After—Sykodoner the Reason—As Usual, of Course.

Miss ——— ———, So. High St., Marion, Ohio (name upon request), was hopelessly prostrated for a number of years, caused by an injury to her spine. Years of motherly care, and expert treatment of various kinds, proved futile—until the Sykodoner was applied.

It was but a matter of days, when the invalid arose from her bed, to the wonder and astonishment of relatives and friends, and has remained so, to this day—about seven months later.

MISS DORTHY ARTRIP
531 W. Columbia St., Marion, Ohio.

"I fell and sprained my back; I suffered considerably for a number of weeks, without apparent relief. Friends persuaded me to try the Sykodoner. This soon did the work for me; the pain left, never to return—several months ago. I cannot say too much for the Sykodoner; for it also did so much for mother; and for scores of friends."

Signed: Miss Dorthy Artrip.

The Sykodoner is the talk of the town. Nothing like it has ever before appeared in Marion. See the Sykodoner Man, today, let him show you the most amazing phenomena of your life—the like of which you never dreamed of. This is free. Don't miss it! No drugs, surgery, serum, or rubbing. The treatment is very delightful; and the beauty of it all is that it does the work—oftentimes when all other means have failed. We welcome the most desperate cases—those that have failed to yield to all other forms of treatment.

Office hours daily: 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Also evenings and Sunday forenoons. Present address, 329 West Center St. After this week, at 543 N. Greenwood St., Marion, Ohio.—Adv.

Chained To Chair By Rheumatic Pain—Little Green Capsule Frees Him From Agony

Often In 5 Days Even Tenderness Is Gone Says Henney & Cooper.

Men and women who were bent nearly double — whose joints were swollen and inflamed — whose very existence was just one continuous torturing trial have watched with wonder their return to physical fitness and felt the glorious relief of a body free from aches and pains simply by putting their faith in the "little green capsule" known from coast to coast as Allenrhu Number 2.

These little green capsules go after the swelling and the pain in the right way—the knock-out way. One little capsule an hour for the first 10 hours; then continue as directed until every little twinge and every bit of tenderness is gone.

Just ask for Allenrhu Number 2—Substitutes and imitations may be offered you but remember, it's "the little green capsule" that is turning the trick and bringing joy to thousands of Rheumatic sufferers, so insist on Allenrhu No. 2.

Henney & Cooper or any reputable druggist in America will be glad to supply you.—Adv.

New York, March 29—Though trading in the stock market was in large volume today, the market was devoid of the spectacular features and wide price fluctuations which characterized the first three sessions of the week. In anticipation of a large expansion in broker's loans to be shown in the reserve board's weekly report after the close of the market, traders sold the motor stocks and the steels early in the session, and prices moved irregularly downward.

Shortly after the noon period, when it appeared that most of this speculative selling had been absorbed, the market rallied sharply under the lead of the public utility stocks and the low-priced specialties. Copper stocks were well bought in this period, to the accompaniment of favorable reports from the copper market. New favorites were brought forward from time to time, to replace the oils and rails, which appeared to have faltered in their neck-breaking pace.

Consolidated Gas of New York pushed ahead to a new peak above 146, the highest price at which the stock has ever sold. Brooklyn Union Gas, Montana Power and other well known utility stocks were in good demand from the start, and a heavy buying wave in General Electric passed over the market in the early afternoon, sweeping the stock ahead nearly 4 points to the highest price on record.

Bullish forces behind the movement in the motor stocks and specialties retreated to a slightly lower price level in support of their favorites. As a rule the most vigorous buying of General Motors, Hupp, Hudson and Studebaker took place 2 to 3 points below Wednesday's close.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, March 29—Sensational crop advices yesterday gave further impetus to the broadening buying power in the wheat market. Prices advanced consistently throughout the session and finished sharply above the previous day's closing quotations.

July and September moved into new high ground for the crop, and March and May responded, the latter selling at the highest price since Fall. Closing prices were at the top, registering gains of 2@2⅜c. March finished at $1.42⅝, May $1.42, July $1.40⅝ and September $1.39⅝.

Bullish news of the corn situation had little effect on the market in the face of a light trade, due to the centering of interest in wheat. Prices average higher, but held within a range of ⅜@⅝c, finishing at the top, with gains of ⅜@⅝c. March closed at 98⅜c, May $1.00⅜, July $1.03 and September $1.03⅞.

Oats moved up on strength of the cash market, wherein premiums were the highest on the crop. The futures registered gains of ¼@⅝c in price. Rye bulged sharply near the close, due to further export inquiry, stronger cash market and the upturn in wheat. Prices finished ¾@1⅜c higher.

Reports from the eastern half of the Winter wheat territory, particularly Illinois, Indiana and Ohio indicated abandonment of acreage will probably be the greatest ever known. Views from the Southwest were not as optimistic as they have been.

As a result busing of the new crop futures was on a liberal scale by both outside interests and the trade. There was also a growing belief that private reports to be issued next week will prove extremely bullish.

Conditions surrounding the old crop months were more encouraging to those who favored the buying side, and shorts bid up the March sharply, while some of the leading professionals were aggressive buyers of the May.

Corn trade was the lightest in some time. There was no pressure to speak of and scattered buying on the strength in wheat held prices above the previous day's close. Nothing was heard of on export sales, but exporters were bidding 12½ over May price in the local cash market for delivery on track in New York. It was said these bids were ½c out of line.

Cash corn was strong and active with the basis on choice grades ½@1c higher and unchanged on other varieties. Prices were unchanged to 2c up. Buying was general and local sales aggregated 165,000 bus. Sales to go to store, 35,000 bu. Deliveries on March contracts, 5,000 bu.

Cash oats sold at the highest premium on the crop, with sales of No. 2 white at 63c, or 5⅝c over May price, and No. 3 white at 62¼c, or 5¼c over. The futures were firmer as a result.

There was talk of further export business in rye and the demand for cash rye was good with the basis steady to ½c higher. The principal influence turning futures prices upward was the sharp advance in wheat.

Eagles, Labor Union Join In Junior C. of C. Plans To Provide Airport Here

Workmen's Organization Names Committee to Confer on Proposal

THREE ARE SELECTED

Efforts Made to Bring State Convention of Electrical Workers Here

Plans for a municipal airport in Marion gained added impetus last night when the Central Labor Union appointed a committee to confer with the Junior Chamber of Commerce on the project.

Initial action in the matter was made by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and support of various civic, fraternal, labor and other organizations was asked. Several groups have made plans to co-operate.

Members of the committee named by the Labor Union are C. F. Keeler, John J. Zuck and C. E. Bochman.

Efforts are being made by officers of the Central Labor Union to bring the next state convention of Electrical Workers to Marion. Through the efforts of the convention committee composed of Hayes Maynard, C. A. Bolin and C. A. Bodman, the state Bricklayers' convention will be held here in June.

Principal Speaker

W. L. Chiles, Springfield, Ill., representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, was the principal speaker on the program. He is touring this section of the state in interest of Electrical Workers.

A report made by the Building Trades showed steady improvement in building operations in Marion and less unemployment for members of the craft. The union went on record favoring employment of local labor in preference to imported men.

Two new delegates to the union were seated. One from the Stage Hands and Motion Picture Operators union and the Erie Carmen's Union.

REPORTED IMPROVED

The condition of John P. Snider, who has been ill of influenza for more than a week at his home, 125 Johnson-st, is reported to be improved.

It may be lucky there are not a very great number of small fortunes. How many millions would quit constuctive work if they had $50,000 "out at 5 per cent?"

Buckeye Aerie Indorses Project and Pledges to Give Full Support

JOHN ABEL APPOINTED

Lodge Plans to Send Group to Columbus to Attend Special Program

Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, arranged at its weekly meeting last night to join other local organizations in the movement for establishing a municipal airport here.

In response to a communication received from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is in charge of plans for a unified effort of various local organizations for promoting the airport project, John Abel was named to represent the Eagles. He will attend a conference expected to be held in the near future with representatives of the different organizations attending.

To Submit Data

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has sent similar communications to other lodges and civic organizations. Preliminary to launching plans for a general conference, a committee of the Junior Chamber collected information from other cities where airports are located and this data will be submitted to those attending the conference.

The local Eagles' organization also arranged last night to send a delegation to Columbus on May 2 to take part in a special program planned in honor of L. V. Westerman of Seattle, grand worthy president of the national aerie, who will be a guest of Columbus aerie on that date. The Marion Eagles will be accompanied by their drum corps and march in a street parade which is to be a feature of the event.

Elyria To Visit Here

It was announced that the degree team and officers of Elyria lodge will be here April 29 and have charge of the initiation of a large class of candidates. This will be the closing initiation of a membership campaign which has been in progress since January.

Final plans were announced for the annual memorial services of Buckeye Aerie, to be held Sunday afternoon at the Eagles hall on W. Center-st. The memorial address will be given by M. O. Burns of Hamilton, past state president.

Four candidates were initiated and 12 applications for membership received at last night's session.

WOULD LINK SMITH-SINCLAIR IN OIL

FIND GREAT DEPOSITS OF COAL IN MADAGASCAR

Paris—Huge deposits of soft coft have been discovered in Madagascar which heretofore has furnished France principally with farm produce and lumber.

The discovery is the climax of a search extending over twenty-three years one which geological experts were led by numerous evidences of coal like vegetation.

The heavy veins have been found in the north part of the island, where coalfields cover an area approximately 550 miles long and 100 miles wide. It is estimated that several billion tons of coal will be obtained from Madagascar.

COMMUNITY CLUB PLANS PENNY SUPPER AT MEET

The meeting of the Stateet Community Club which was postponed from March 20 was held Tuesday night March 27, at the school. The Girls' Glee Club from Central Junior High School sang three songs and Major O. M. Baldinger gave a talk on Alaska. Miss Catherine Turner's third grade class won the banner which is given at each meeting for the grade having the largest attendance of parents and friends. Plans were made for a penny supper at the building on April 20. The next regular meeting will be April 17.

Miss Edith Clarke, a one-time teacher of mathematics in San Francisco, is now one of the outstanding professional women in America. Since 1919 Miss Clarke had been an engineer with the General Electric Company, having charge of a group working on calculations connected with the designs of electric turbines.

PERSIA CLOSES SCHOOLS THAT TEACH HOLY BIBLE

Teheran — The American Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions Schools have been closed by order of the Persian government because they disregarded an order of the Ministry of Public Instruction of nearly a year ago, not to teach the Bible but give increasing prominence in their curriculum to the Koran.

The English Church Missionary Society as well as the American schools, which have establishments in various towns throughout Persia, are affected by this order.

As far as is known neither the American nor British legations took action.

Roller skates of English invention are propelled at high speed by the pressure of their wearer's feet against ratchet gear wheels, springs returning the mechanism after each stroke.
